Privately-managed prisons are secure institutions operated by private companies under contract and oversight of the BOP. The majority of federal inmates in private prisons are sentenced criminal aliens who will be deported upon completion of their sentence. Unlike federal inmates housed in BOP facilities, the contractor is responsible for the medical care and the costs associated with providing those services.

143 inmates have lab confirmed positive tests with 61 inmates having recovered to date.

Of the 82 remaining positives:

18 inmates are at the North Lake Correctional Facility (MI);

4 inmates are at the McRae Correctional Facility (GA);

11 inmates are at the Rivers Correctional Facility (NC);

45 inmates are at Great Plains Correctional Facility (OK); and

1 inmate is at the D. Ray James Correctional Facility (GA).

All inmates are being appropriately treated and isolated per CDC guidelines.
